The National U.S. – Arab Chamber of Commerce (NUSACC) this week hosted its third annual Ramadan Iftar celebration in honor of the Arab diplomatic community and the League of Arab States. Upwards of 200 leaders of multiple faiths attended the event, a high-profile gathering held at The Ritz-Carlton Hotel in downtown Washington DC. Attendees included Arab ambassadors, U.S. Government officials, representatives of the DC area business community, and dozens of ranking embassy officials.

Breaking the fast (Iftar) during Ramadan is a traditional event celebrated daily by more than 1.5 billion Muslims around the globe. Ramadan is a holy month of spiritual cleansing in which adherents of Islam rededicate themselves to God, worship, and reading the Quran, Islam’s holiest book. The month-long period is marked by fasting, personal sacrifice, self discipline, and increased generosity, especially toward the underprivileged.

“People around the world, of all different faiths, can relate to the austerity of Ramadan,” said David Hamod, President & CEO of the National U.S.-Arab Chamber of Commerce. “This holy month enables us to put ourselves in the shoes of others who are less fortunate than we are. Ramadan makes us aware of the suffering of others, and many in the Arab world are suffering badly these days.”

By contrast, Hamod noted, “The breaking of the fast, Iftar, is joyous, an important part of healing. It reminds us to count our blessings.”

This message of humility also came through strongly in the remarks of Imam Adam Sbita, who requested a minute of prayerful silence to remember those around the world who are suffering.

The Imam also highlighted the role of Ehsan, “the sincerity that we have in this holy month of Ramadan. Ehsan means that you use every single avenue at your disposal to complete the task that is ahead of you with the utmost perfection. During Ramadan, fasting embodies this aspect of sincerity and integrity.”

The Iftar celebration was held at The Ritz-Carlton Hotel in downtown Washington DC.
Imam Adam concluded, “When you fast, as our Prophet told us, God has written a reward for every action. This is the essence of Ramadan: Sincerity with God and building our lives around this sincerity.”

Lead Sponsors: Ritz-Carlton and Etihad Airways

The two Lead Sponsors of this year’s Iftar were the Ritz-Carlton Hotel and Etihad Airways. Other sponsors, based in the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) nations, included Almisha Group, Bin Dawood Group, Danube Group, and Dukhan Consulting.

Abu Dhabi-based Etihad Airways, the other Lead Sponsor of the NUSACC Iftar event, surprised the crowd by offering three Business Class tickets on Etihad. One by one, these were drawn from a large bowl of business cards and presented to the prize winners.

Haitham Al Subaihi, Vice President of Mid Atlantic (USA) for Etihad Airways, noted, “Etihad Airways’ and NUSACC’s partnership to host the Iftar is a symbol of our strong relationship and Etihad’s support for NUSACC. It was a pleasure to share this special event in this special month with our special guests. Ramadan is the blessed month of strengthening the relationship between family and friends, putting aside differences, and cooperating to build a better bond between us and our partners.”

Al Subaihi concluded, “Following the great leadership of the UAE, we strive to build strong, sincere, and long-lasting relationships with all of our business partners. We would like to thank everyone who has helped with this event to bring us together and to build stronger bonds.”

Honoring the Ambassadors

The annual Iftar provides NUSACC with an opportunity to honor Arab embassies, particularly the Arab Ambassadors. Said Amin Salam, NUSACC’s Vice President for Business Development and the driving force behind the annual event, “This special event is NUSACC’s way of saying thank you to the ambassadors and other diplomats at the Arab embassies and consulates.”
He continued, “For nearly 50 years, our Chamber has served as the preeminent bridge for trade and investment between the Arab world and the United States. But without our stakeholders, clients and friends, we would not be the very successful organization that we are today.”

Ambassadors attending the Iftar appreciated NUSACC’s gesture.

“I was pleasantly surprised by the warmth of this event and by the efforts of NUSACC and the sponsors to look after their guests at this religious and cultural event,” said H.E. Lukman Faily, Ambassador of the Republic of Iraq to the United States. “The Chamber’s event helps us all to bridge two worlds and to promote better understanding of one another.”

H.E. Rachad Bouhlal, Morocco’s Ambassador to the United States, echoed that view. “I was very pleased that NUSACC brought together so many American friends to share this intimate experience of breaking the fast,” he said. “This is an important tradition of Muslims worldwide, and I commend the U.S.-Arab Chamber for helping to strengthen the bridge between our cultures.”

In the same spirit, H.E. M’hamed Chelaifa, Tunisia’s Ambassador to the United States, noted, “All of us in the Arab diplomatic community appreciate the Chamber’s efforts to encourage understanding about the Holy Month of Ramadan. There are many misperceptions in the United States about the Arab and Muslim worlds.”

Ambassador Chelaifa concluded, “Events like these help to demystify our culture, bring us closer together, and highlight the many attributes that the world’s great religions share in common.”
